Training Announcement

Missing/Unidentified Persons

The Michigan State Police (MSP) Training Academy is hosting a training on Missing and Unidentified Persons. Each year, there are hundreds of missing person cases reported throughout Michigan. Despite law enforcement's best efforts, many of these cases remain unsolved leaving families to deal with the anguish and despair of not knowing what happened to a loved one. This training is presented by MSP and the National Missing and Unidentified Persons System (NamUs) personnel.

This class is designed to help train law enforcement officers on the resources available when investigating these cases. Topics to be covered include:

- The National Center on Missing and Exploited Children
- The Michigan Missing Children's Clearinghouse
- Michigan's Amber Alert System
- NamUs Database
- Forensic Art and their method with unidentified remains
- Cold case investigations involving long-term missing persons and unidentified remains
